

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XXII.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, APRIL 6, 1894.

NO. 11

WILLIAMSBURG, WHITLEY COUNTY.

—Court of claims is in session this week.

—Mr. Alvin Maning died at his home near Spruceburg Sunday of typhoid fever.

—Mr. H. H. Lockwood has been here for several days trying to establish a buggy factory.

—Miss Nellie Adkins entertained a crowd of the younger people at her home Tuesday night.

—Rev. L. L. Pickett will commence a series of meetings at the M. E. church Friday morning.

—Friday evening Rev. Newton Taylor delivered a very interesting lecture at court-house on "Love, Courtship and Marriage."

—Miss Jacquith, who has been teaching in the academy since September, left last week for her home in Ohio on account of ill health.

—Miss Gertrude Lester entertained a party of her young friends at her home last evening. It was a very delightful evening for all present.

—Dr. Thomas Pierce died at his home near town Saturday morning. He was paralyzed about a week before his death, and continually grew worse until he died.

—Last Sunday evening union services were held at the Christian church under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. Mrs. J. C. Buttham was expected to deliver a lecture, but was unable to attend, so the services were conducted by pastors of the various churches.

—Mr. B. F. Gray, of Gray's Station, gave us a call Friday. Elder J. E. Terry is visiting at his former home in Montgomery county. Miss Theo Hill visited Miss Nettie Smith, of London, last week. Mr. J. M. Sullivan has been on the sick list for several days. Mr. J. G. Claxton had his thumb so badly mashed that it had to be amputated.

BROADHEAD, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—Miss Helen Sayers is visiting Mrs. J. H. Albright.

—Mr. W. H. Colyar is preparing to build a new mansion.

—Mr. John Frith will have his hotel ready for renting in a few days.

—Mrs. Mattie Carter has sold her farm two miles out of town, to an Indiana gentleman.

—Mrs. A. J. Pike and Mrs. Mattie Carter went to Mt. Vernon and Maresburg a few days ago.

—Mrs. J. B. Farmer, the wife of our accommodating R. R. agent, went down to Shelby City yesterday.

—Mr. A. E. Albright will soon have a nice cottage building finished and I guess everybody knows what that means.

—The ladies of the Christian church will give an entertainment at their church house next Saturday night, the proceeds to go for the purchasing of an organ for their church, and we hope everyone who can will attend, and encourage the good work. It is said they have a first-class recital.

—The republican primary which will come off next Saturday promises to be one of the hottest contests that they have had for some years. There are about 40 candidates and each claims to be in the lead. Now is the time for democrats to stand off and say nothing and let them settle their own business. The greatest excitement seems to be in the judge's and sheriff's race. We will be glad when the election is over for we have seen some sad effects of their whisky for the last few days.

—Mrs. Lide Burk died Tuesday. This is the woman that Bill Newcomb shot and wounded several months ago. Poor woman she has had a long siege of suffering, her body was almost putrefied before her death. Mr. Willis Floyd, of Evansville, was at Mr. John Riddle's a few days ago and after eating a hearty dinner, he remarked that if he should die, that he would go on a full stomach. He was at the time feeling well and all right, and in two hours he was a dead man. Cause, some kind of heart trouble.

—Fair Atlanta is the name A. W. Young gives to an excellent historical account of the origin, vicissitudes, growth and present prosperity of Atlanta, which has appeared in the April Southern Magazine (Louisville). The style of the writer is vigorous, and she does not hesitate to say what she thinks about General Sherman's behavior in Atlanta during the late war. The article is well illustrated with portraits and views of buildings and points of interest in and about the city.

—Competent authorities estimate that not less than 400,000,000 human mummies were made in Egypt from the time of the beginning of the art of embalming until its discontinuance in the seventh century. Herodotus and Diodorus both agree in the statement that there were three grades in the embalming process, the first costing not less than a sum equal to $1,225, the second about one-fifth that amount, and the third cheaper than common earth burial.

—J. C. Russell has been appointed postmaster at Bush's store, Laurel county.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—Capt. Thos. Peacock's condition remains unchanged.

—The remains of the late Joseph C. Frank will be removed to Flemingsburg next week.

—The union meeting will be held at the Baptist church Sunday evening, when Elder Gowan will preach.

—The town law in regard to peddling country produce only applies to the sale of fresh meat, in quantities less than 25 cents worth.

—Mr. Nelson Burdett, the boss blacksmith, is making several large iron cages in the basement of the new city building in which to put the town prisoners. The prisoners are worked every day in a rock quarry near town.

—The band stand in the park has been completed and looks very well. Of course a few moss backs objected to its being built there but as that class of cattle object to everything, their wail amounts to nothing.

—The contested election case of Wm. Broadbudd, republican, against W. B. Mason, democrat, for the circuit clerkship was affirmed by the Court of Appeals this week. The case was taken up by Broadbudd, appellant. Mr. Mason holds the office until January 1895.

—At a meeting of the city council Monday night the franchise was granted to Dr. J. B. Kinnaird and others of this city and Fred Balcom, of Philadelphia, to build the water works, electric light plant and ice factory. Thus it will be seen that the prospects of the city securing these improvements at an early day are very flattering.

HUBBLE.

—Wm. Hubble lost his buggy mare, Cricket, a few days ago.

—S. E. Owsley's meat house was robbed of all its contents a few nights ago.

—Nearly all are ready to plant corn, and some are planting regardless of the cold weather.

—Our little village has begun to assume some of its former appearances in the last few days.

—Quarterly meeting was fairly attended here Sunday, and some excellent preaching was heard.

—Frank Holtsclaw has started his hay press in this community, and some are shipping hay to the mountains, and some selling here at about 40 to 45c.

—Mrs. B. F. Engleman is visiting relatives here for a few days. Uncle Green Bright has been on the pony list for a while. Mrs. G. A. Swinebroad is about out again, after an illness of some days.

—George Ann Engleman, of color, departed this life last Saturday, after a long illness. She leaves a husband and two children. Her little girl, Addie, waited on her tenderly till the last. Bros. Allen and Fisher preached the funeral sermon Sunday evening at the colored church here. Her husband's brother, Old Fellows responded to his troubles, and waited on him in the funeral services.

LONDON, LAUREL COUNTY.

—A regular old time country dance was indulged in at Dick Harbin's Tuesday night.

—Little Will Hardin accidentally severed a finger Tuesday and Dr. Caldwell was called in to attend it.

—W. A. Warnack was up this week to see his brother Sam, who is getting along very well with his broken collar bone.

—Dr. J. A. Lutz left London Wednesday and will make the colony his future home. The doctor has had a good practice here and has made a good citizen.

—Henry Whitehead has moved into his new house in the Johnson addition and Ed Melvin is now occupying his handsome residence back of the London Manufacturing Company's Works.

Mr. J. A. Hammonds Complimented.

(To the Editor Interior Journal.)

Mr. J. A. Hammonds, whose store was broken into and burned the 23rd of last February, has or ought to have one consolation in the fact it has been the occasion of a general outburst of expressed confidence and sympathy. There is not a single good citizen with whom he has had business dealings for the few years he has been here, who does not feel a sincere sympathy for him in his serious losses. Mr. Hammonds has shown himself a good merchant, a true gentleman and a useful christian citizen in this community, and hence deserved and has secured the confidence of the whole people. It may be truthfully said that there is a universal desire for him to re-enter business at the "old stand."

This may be, on the part of the neighbors, a selfish desire but it is accompanied with a very sincere and high regard for Mr. Hammonds and is a very hearty and spontaneous testimonial to his high character. A new building on the same site is now in process of erection and will be speedily finished, and we hope that Mr. Hammonds will then put in a new stock and re-enter business to his profit and the great convenience of the people who reside near Hubble.

R. E. S.

—The C. H. & D. announces that it will make no change in the present management of the Q. & C.

Happy Jack Advises Mule Raisers.

(To the Editor of the Interior Journal.)

ABERDEEN, Ga., April 1.—I did think I wouldn't say another word, but our people have been engaged all winter in reading such profound literature as Grover Cleveland, "Telling the Truth," Henry Watterson, "Money and Morals," Billy Breckinridge, "Social Parity," Luther Benson on "Temperance," and about Coxe's Army, that I have persuaded myself the boys and gals need a rest and have concluded to pitch in and give them something light to peruse while I rest, too.

I am through with my winter's work. The gentleman who thinks that the mule trade is not afflicted with poll evil, glanders, blind staggers, epizooty, bots and colic will please come down next winter and teach us better. In the main I have had the best of luck in selling on time, and can truthfully say that I have never lost but $10 on all the mules that I have ever sold to farmers; but as a rule it is a good way to clean up as you go. If you don't, you may go to some gentleman's house to collect for some mighty nice mules. He is hospitable. He bows his meek face down in his plate, raises his holy hands, "Let us thank God from whom all blessings flow." You get through with your dinner. You have enjoyed it. You were hungry. A mule man is apt to be hungry. You take a seat with your host on the piazza. You pick your teeth and smoke a fragrant cigar with the gentleman. In the course of the evening he invites you to go with him to the lot. He may tell you that he is insolvent. You may not know what he means. Listen, he will tell you. He explains his insolvency; is apt to be convincing. He turns you out some old second-hand mules. Says, "I want to do you mighty right, Mr. I am going to do you proud. Here are several mules much better than those you let me have. I know them well. I have worked them several years, and none of them have ever had the colic or been sanded; they are hardened and well acclimated and are not more than 12 years old. I hate to give them up, but I intend to do you mighty right. You have been good to me." He turns you over his second-hand 12-year-old hardened and acclimated mules. You turn him over his note. He hitches up your nice, young, gay and lively 4-year-old and drives down the lane singing, "Nearer, My God, to Thee." And about time you wish you were a Christian, too. But don't you feel like you are very close to God; mighty nigh out of friends!

A word in conclusion to farmers who feed mules, but who are never on the mule market with their mules. When you turn your 2 year olds out on grass, keep feeding them all the corn you can get them to eat, and the 1st of August, by no means later than that, put them in a shed and keep them eating green corn, oats and hay and anything that will fatten, and have them fat and ready for market by the 1st of October. October, November and December are the months to sell young, unbroke mules. Now I am right. Take my advice just one time. Again, don't send your stock south at all if you are going to sell by wholesale, but sell at home. If you can't sell for satisfactory prices at home, send them by an experienced man who knows the country and sell them to the man who follows the plow in the field and sell by retail. Sell them for all the cash you can, when you can get enough. I do not advise selling on credit, but I have never lost any money for anybody when I sold on time to a farmer who lived on his farm. If you can't afford under pressure, to sell your mules on time, I would advise you not to feed mules at all.

Again, when you begin to engage your mule colts at May court, don't pay more than $25 for a colt that will grow up to 15 hands full, and be a nice one besides. Take this as a basis and be governed accordingly, and you'll remember very kindly,

Notes Picked up by the I. J. Man on His Trip to Casey.

"This is the largest crowd I have seen in Liberty since Gen. John Morgan and his men spent a night here in September of 1862," said an old gentleman to me as we plowed through the enormous assemblage on the streets of the capital of the "State of Casey" Monday. The weather was propitious, farm work was well up and the sturdy citizens could think of no better way of spending the day than going to "big" court. Another attraction which perhaps brought several to town was the annual horse show, and still another reason for coming was to see the big three story hotel, just opened by R. T. Pierce, in full blast.

Court opened promptly at 9 o'clock with Judge Wallace Jones on the bench and Mr. Muncie, a small man with a big voice, seeing to the Commonwealth's interest. This is a two week's term and as the docket is large it is more than probable that the entire time will be consumed.

There is not a single prisoner in Casey county's jail, to her credit be it said. There are a number who no doubt should be behind its bars, but by bond and escapes the ill-constructed little stone house in the hollow has become entirely deserted. Jailer W. W. Brown says he is not making much money out of the office, but insists that his friends vote for him in the coming republican primary to continue to fill the place.

The old and well-known firm of Wilkerson & Myers is rapidly passing out of existence. These clever gentlemen are selling out at cost with the intention of quitting the mercantile business, much to the regret of the citizens of Casey. Mr. Wilkerson has been appointed gauger while Mr. Myers' duties as county judge will now consume his entire time.

I will wager that G. R. Cowden, agent for P. H. Napier, does more business in the smallest space than any man in the State. A room of his residence is used for his store and in it there are goods of every description. There is no room for a stove or for chairs and he says he actually has to make a cash drawer out of his pockets because he hasn't the space to spare for one.

Nearly Northcut, a very low flung negro, and Vide Atwood, an equally as low flung white woman, who have been living as man and wife in the country near here for some time, skipped out Sunday and it is thought and hoped that they are gone for good. They were notified by the citizens that a removal would prove healthful for them.

A. J. Gibony and A. P. Young, who were appointed sheriff and deputy, by Judge Myers, to fill out Mac Wheat's unexpired term, are making splendid officers. Mr. Young, whose duty it was to wait on the court, had a fine case o mumps to break out Monday, and was compelled to go to bed, leaving Mr. Gibony to do all the work, which, under the present system, is a big job.

James Cowden, the young son of Mr. G. R. Cowden, was thrown from a horse Sunday, fearfully cutting his head and face, as well as badly bruising him up from head to foot.

The horse show was worth seeing and a number of good ones were exhibited. C. L. Bowman showed Grady Wilkes, the speedy son of Red Wilkes; J. H. Allen & Bro., Sentinel; J. W. Lawhorn, Ho-Hock; Sam May, Sulmar; Roy Beazley, All Style and A. B. Williams his splendid jack, Sam.

The republicans of Casey will hold a primary at an early day, and in the mean time the candidates are losing no time. There are several candidates for each office, while in the assessor's race there are a dozen. There is no bug juice with which to warm the heart of the dear voter and the ammunition that is being used by the candidates is merely kind words and the promise of a faultless administration.

Messrs. A. R. Dyche, of the London Echo, G. M. Davison, of Stanford, and Senator Lay were frequently seen in each other's company Monday, and a man with a suspicious eye might have seen some suspicious maneuvering. What they were up to, I was unable to find out.

A Correction Corrected.

(To the Editor of Interior Journal.)

An article in your last issue in which the facts were "fully explained" in regard to the boycott of a Stanford jeweler needs correction. In reference to "his whisky friends" I will say that no advocates of whisky ever approached me in any way shape or form neither threatening or implying threats of any kind. The assertion that I said they did is a misrepresentation of the facts. I did not wish to make any public statement and only do so to prevent an injustice being done. People who come into my place of business will be accorded the courtesy they always heretofore received.

COL. BRECKINRIDGE is still on the rack with Judge Wilson forcing the fangs into him. Nothing especially new has been developed, except that a type writer has been found who copied letters and directed them to Miss Pollard during 1886, the year the colonel says there was no communication between them. It has also been shown that he gave the plaintiff a certificate of good character to enable her to go before the civil service commission, and that he invited and took her to a lecture to a female seminary at Washington last February. The colonel denies nearly everything that Miss Pollard swore to, and it looks a little like "he doth protest too much." He says the scene in the presence of Mrs. Blackburn when she called him "Willie" and he addressed her as "Madeline" in the most affectionate way, did happen, but that it was only "a superb piece of acting." He claims that Mrs. Blackburn got things mixed in her recollection of certain remarks which fail to consist with his. "I deserve punishment and I have had it," said the colonel, whose face shows that the terrible strain he has been undergoing. The wages of sin is death, and no one realizes it more than the gray hair defendant.

The South Carolina war has smoothed its wrinkled front and the governor has descended from the high horse he has been riding, since a resolution has been introduced in Congress to investigate his action in seizing railroad property and telegraph lines engaged in inter-State commerce, and with armed force and violence establishing a censorship of the daily and weekly press of the country, and prohibiting the transmission of news dispatches to the newspapers, and inquire by what law or authority such acts have been committed, and whether the laws of the United States have been violated. The company, which tendered its resignation rather than attempt to enforce the offensive dispensary law, caught it in a proclamation from the governor, who refused to accept it, but discharged them in disgrace. If Gov. Tilman is responsible for the law he deserves all the execration he is receiving but if he is not and is only attempting to enforce the law as he finds it, he is only doing a plain duty, but he ought to call the legislature together to repeal it.

ALL that talk about former office holders under Cleveland having to stand back this time to give the other fellows a chance, seems to have been to scare the old papsuckers off and not really intended for the president's rule of faith and practice. A large number of them have been appointed, and now comes Ex-Public Printer Benedict to get his "fat take" again. The exs, who thought the story true about them not being wanted again, are kicking themselves for giving up so quickly for another chance to live off of Uncle Sam.

THERE is very little sentimental nonsense in England and a criminal, whether male or female, usually gets his deserts. Mrs. Walber, 53, was hung at Liverpool, Monday, for the murder of her husband. She admitted that she brained him with a trace chain, after keeping him confined in a garret, chained and padlocked. There were no unusual demonstrations, the woman meeting death in a rather unconcerned or dazed sort of a way.

PERSISTENCE is a well developed trait on Mr. Cleveland's character. He nominated O. H. J. Taylor, a Kansas negro, for Minister to Bolivia but the Senate rejected it; and now he names him for recorder of deeds of the District of Columbia, the fattest kind of a take. Fred Douglas held it for a number of years and it has almost gotten to be considered the especial prerogative of the colored brother.

The Louisville Post announces that Mr. Boyle Gill Boyle, recently of the Danville Advocate, has been elected vice-president of that company and will attend to its business affairs. Mr. Boyle is thoroughly equipped for the duties and his rural rooster friends are confident that he will be as much of a success in metropolitan as he was in country journalism.

The new senator from Georgia, Hon. Pat Walsh, is an editor of much force and an orator of considerable renown. He is an Irishman by birth, a strong silver mar, and while he was a red hot Cleveland man in 1894, he opposed his nomination in 1892.

The impotent majority in the House has at last succeeded in settling the contested election case of O'Neil against Joy from St. Louis. Joy, republican, has been holding the seat but he was ousted by a vote of 155 to 28.

The Louisville Commercial is gradually becoming a type machine set paper and the improvement is very marked. The bold faced and badly worn brevier did not comport with the contents of that new and interesting sheet.

This may be an off year, and in point of fact is away off for the democrats, Rhode Island, which last year went democratic when it was no good to do so, since a majority of all the votes cast was necessary to an election, Wednesday went even more hell bent than Maine did for Gov. Kent, the republicans electing their candidate for governor by over 5,000 plurality, which is now only necessary to secure an election. The tail and horns also go with the hide. The Legislature will be strongly republican, thereby securing a U. S. Senator of that party. If this kind of thing keeps up we shall move to make it unanimous, for the democrats are evidently not in it this year.

RELIGION and politics are never mixed without trouble and it was again demonstrated in Kansas City Tuesday. The American Protective Association and the Catholics came together in a bloody conflict in the race for mayor. More than 100 shots were fired and when the smoke of battle cleared away one man lay dead and several others in a dying condition. An object of the A. P. A. is to curtail the influence of the Catholics and prevent this country from becoming under the rule of the papal government.

The Ohioans again showed their distrust of democracy Monday in their municipal elections, electing their men in a very large majority of the cities. There were five tickets in the field in Cincinnati, that lovely specimen of democracy, the Cincinnati Enquirer, supporting a ticket of its own against the regular democratic nominees, and it was badly snowed under. Caldwell, the republican nominee for mayor, was elected by nearly 7,000 plurality.

When the trial of Henry Ward Beecher for nest hiding with Mrs. Tilton was in progress, a lady asked a judge if he thought the great preacher guilty. "Guilty of what, madam?" inquired the judge and the matter was dropped. In discussing the Breckinridge-Pollard case, the ladies might remember this incident with profit.

The Semi-Weekly Pantagraph is Richmond's latest contribution to journalism. As the girl said in trying to excuse her act, "it is a very little one," so it can be said of the Pantagraph, but if it keeps up as it has started it is bound to grow. The names of T. C. Adams, Milo Shanks and C. O. Groves appear as editors of the new venture.

It has been proven in the trial that Breckinridge gave Miss Pollard promissory notes and then allowed them to go to protest. Could anything be meaner? It seems that all the notes, the silvery ones and all, of the defendant are worse than base counterfeit.

DR. BROWN-SEQUARD, who thought he had discovered the "elixir of life," which would prolong indefinitely the days on earth of all who partook, was evidently mistaken, or he didn't take his own medicine. He died at Paris, France, Monday.

—A Mask ball in Tammany Hall, New York, wound up in a riot. There were 1,500 persons present. During the melee the lights were extinguished, and when turned on again one man was found on the floor dead. Several others were injured, some fatally.

—Col. Breckinridge indorsed accommodation notes for his concubine and then allowed them to go to protest. This man would light a cigar in a powder mill or go to sea in a tub. The only charitable view of his actions is that he is mentally irresponsible.—Louisville Times.

—The State Treasurer is in correspondence with some of the banks of the State for the purpose of finding a way to bridge over a temporary deficit in the Treasury, caused by slow collections. There is now a deficit of $125,000 and a suspension of payments may become necessary.

—Congress, by a special act, has just granted to Andrew McKee, alias Andrew Franklin, of Burlington, Kas., a pension of $50 a month. The newly made pensioner is 103 years old and fought in the war of 1812, an Indian war, war with Mexico, and was a teamster in the Federal Army from 1861 to 1865.

—The Associate Justices of the Supreme Court have been reassigned. Justice Brown is assigned to the Second circuit, formerly presided over by the late Justice Blatchford, while Justice White takes the Fifth circuit, including the South Atlantic and Gulf States. Justice Jackson is assigned to the Sixth circuit, including Kentucky.

—Dr. Joseph M. Mathews has been elected president of the State board of health, which is in session at Louisville. So far 2,325 physicians of the State have been granted certificates, and about 200 have been refused for reasons satisfactory to the board. Most of those who failed to secure certificates were illiterate and many of them "quacks."

—Just across the Hickman bridge over the Kentucky river, opposite Camp Nelson, Jim Johnson shot and killed his brother, Sidney Johnson. They had been to a dance and were returning home, both under the influence of liquor. Both were farmers. Jim was 22 and Sidney 20 years old. Both were single.

—The Richmond Register says that Hiram Kaufman, the Lexington butcher, who was one of the witnesses for the defense in the Breckinridge-Pollard suit, at one time lived in Richmond and was run away from that place because he was caught stealing money from the till of the butcher shop where he was employed. Later on he married a notorious prostitute.

—Col. Breckinridge knocked the wind out of Mr. Wilson's sails, by answering his question. "Did you give her any wise counsel, such as should have come from a man of your years and position?"

"I did not, Mr. Wilson. You cannot phrase a question that would be too strong or that would put my conduct in too dark a light. From my early chances, my education and my social and domestic surroundings I can say that there is not a man in the country who would have less excuse for such a sin than I had, and, further, I am prepared to say that looking back upon it all now, the hell that I have gone through in the past 10 years, has been more than I deserve. I have endeavored to tell the truth about this whole affair, but one thing I can say there was one phase of punishment I would not suffer or endure, and that a marriage to that woman."

—An Ohio man who fed 12 hogs on wheat estimates that he got $67.20 for 50 bushels of wheat by marketing it in the form of pork; whereas if he had sold it he would have only received $26. He advises buying hogs, even at a good price, to feed the wheat to.

MIDDLEBURG, CASEY COUNTY.

—Bro. Montgomery preached at Grove Sunday evening at 3 o'clock, and will continue to preach there every 1st Sunday evening at that hour.

—V. R. Coleman has built a large barn on his farm just above town and has otherwise beautified his premises by putting a plank fence, setting out shade trees, etc.

—Born to the wife of Charles McWhorter on the night of the 27th, a girl, and Charlie is the happiest man imaginable. The first half dozen were boys. So you see, a girl was a kind of rarity in Charlie's family.

—Squire J. M. Tilford had a number of persons before him Saturday at Yosemite to testify as to the quality of cider sold by Wm. Lipe. Billy is accused of selling a mixture known here as spiked cider. None of the witnesses testified to the fact, however, and consequently no cases were made against Mr. L.

—We did not think any democrat in the county, would have the courage to offer as a candidate for any of the county offices. But Mr. John Rinearson, of Big South, was here last week and says he is in the ring for county clerk. It seems hardly possible for a man of Mr. R.'s political persuasion to be elected to office in Casey, though much stranger things have happened. And let us hope that the election of a good democrat to each of the county offices, be one of the many strange happenings in this the 19th century.

The following is a synopsis of the new game law: It provides that it shall be unlawful for any person to catch, kill or pursue with such intent, any buck, doe or fawn between the first day of March and the first day of September, or any black, gray or fox squirrel between February 1st and the 15th of June. Gray squirrels may be killed for the protection of crops. Wild goose, wild duck, teal or other wild ducks are protected between the 1st day of April and the 15th day of August, and wild turkeys between the 1st of February and the first of September, or any woodcock between the 1st of February and the 20th of June; any quail, partridge, or pheasant between the 1st of January and the 15th of November; dove between the 1st of February and the 1st of August. All insect birds, such as the thrush, meadow lark, finch, martin, swallow, woodpecker, flickers, oriole, tanager, red bird, cat bird and blue bird, where the same are not destructive to crops, are protected throughout the year. The violation of any of the above is made a fine of not less than $5 and not more than $25.

Christian College Notes.

[ADV.]

—The operetta, Katie Dean, will be given in the Opera House in Stanford on next Saturday evening, 7th inst. Some of the best talent about Hustonville, and in Christian College will impersonate the characters. It produces a good effect, and but few amateurs can do so well. Admission will be low, 35 for reserved seats, 25 for others, and 15 to gallery. The Metropolitan Orchestra of Stanford, one of the best in this section of Kentucky, will furnish music, during the intermissions.

—Charles Hermans, a newspaper man, of Wheeling, W. Va., mysteriously disappeared on the eve of his wedding day and the intended bride's friends are scouring the country for him.

Strange Things

Have often been discussed. But the strangest thing is how we can afford to sell a ladies' Shoe for $1.25 that has been sold for $3. Such strange things as this we are doing with our entire stock of goods. We may be called April fools for it, but we realize that people will buy goods where they can be had the cheapest, and we are working for your trade in this way. And did it ever occur to you that merchants who sell on credit charge cash customers the same for goods that they do credit ones? We have no bad debts to make our customers pay for. The amount saved in this way is tremendous and you get the benefit of it if you deal with us. Our Spring

LUCKLESS BABIES.

A Strange Phase of Life in New York and Other Large Cities.

It used to be thought that a mother's tenderness was something no power could efface, but when one examines the condition of the suffering indigent, and especially of those who owe it in some degree to themselves that they are in want, one is led to modify such opinion. Almost all of the mothers among these people who come under condemnation, however, are they that have degraded themselves by the use of intoxicants. The mother has to become lower than a beast before she can abuse her baby. But when the records of societies for the aid of children show that children in arms have been whipped with thongs and straps, have been thrown as missiles from one infuriated parent to another, have been seared with hot irons by mad and drunken fathers and mothers, have even met with worse cruelty, too shocking for recital in our sensitive ears, one sees how possible it is for man and woman to fall into a condition even lower than that of the brutes.

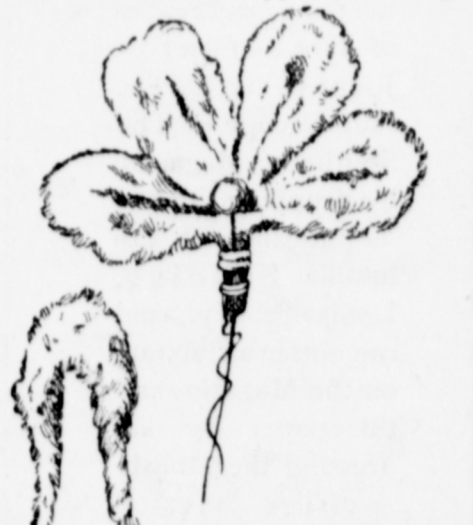

That a mother can desert her newborn baby, leaving it to the mercy of the race, or even do so knowing that speedy death is the best thing that can happen to it, we are all aware; but when a child is found creeping in the garbage of a tenement house yard, it seems as if the child had been in the mother's arms long enough for love to have grown so that such desertion would be impossible. It is quite as difficult to understand the condition of a mother who craves strong drink to such an extent that she sells wardrobe and bedclothes and furniture to buy it while her children starve, or splits chair and table for kindling-wood rather than spend for that the money that goes for drink; or even that of the more kindly-disposed woman who dells cold and hunger for her children by giving them the poison too. The cat loves her kittens better than that; she does not cast them off till they can do for themselves; the wild bear of the woods who dies for her cubs at need is the nobler animal.

It should move the heart of every mother who has been kept from temptation herself, and whose rosy darlings are shielded by warm tenderness, to think of these wretched little beings, who would be too amazed, if brought into such happiness as theirs, to know what it meant. It should seem to these fortunate mothers that it is not enough to do their duty within their own four walls; that a part of their duty lies beyond, where these little creatures are to be found in their squalor and distress; and that aside from the obligation to the neighbor thus involved is the further obligation to their own children of preventing, as far as may be, such ruin.—Harper's Bazar.

CHENILLE FLOWERS.

A Rich Trimming for Hats Which Can Be Made at Home.

Chenille flowers in shades of red from palest pink to deepest crimson, also in yellow and white, are a rich garniture for hats. Six petals compose a flower, each being formed of a piece of wire five inches long, covered with chenille and bent into a loop as shown in cut. A large headed pin forms the center about which the petals are ranged. Long wires extended for the stem are either covered with chenille, or slipped into large rubber tubing. A pleasing variety is obtained by varying the depth of the color used and the size of the flowers. Buds are stimulated by fastening three loops to a stem. A hat trimmed with nothing but such flowers, either in clusters or strewn over a broad drooping brim, is exceedingly becoming, and represents a pretty bit of warm color in the murky lapse between winter and spring.—Anna Hinrichs, in Rural New Yorker.

Female Clerks in Drug Stores.

Why don't more druggists employ one woman clerk at least? One meets women behind the counter of most tradesmen, but they are seldom seen here, where they would often be most peculiarly welcome. This has nothing to do with their studying and qualifying themselves as chemists, and with their doing up a doctor's prescriptions. It only means their waiting on the many women who go into a drugstore, and hardly care to inform the waiting man of their illnesses and their needed remedies. If women ever want to be tended by their own sex it is in a drug store.

GROWING TOMATOES.

Training the Vines So That They Are Things of Beauty.

Thinking that your readers might be interested in the manner in which I grew a tomato vine eight feet in height, I have had an illustration made which, with the description I give, will make it very easy to understand. First, procure two poles three or four inches in diameter at the large end, and ten feet in length. Place them on the ground side by side, so they will be about twenty inches apart at the large end and ten inches apart at the small end. Next, make some slats one inch thick by two or three inches in width. Nail one across at the top, another thirty inches from the large ends, and three more between, so as to be an equal distance apart. Then set firmly in the ground, and with a hoe or spade make a basin-shaped hole at the base of this ladder large enough to hold a pail of water. Set the plant in the center, and after it has got well rooted and stocky, say fifteen inches in height, it should be tied to the first slat and the hole filled with water several times each day. When it has grown pretty well up to the second slat you must push the vine toward the side on which the first slat was nailed. Then nail on a slat on the other side of the pole, and half way between the first and second slats. Fasten the vines to this slat, and as the vine keeps climbing upward, you must keep putting on slats, and fastening the vines to them. In this way you will soon have the woodwork completely covered with a dense growth of green vines and leaves, and such an abundance of fruit that will astonish you. I used the yellow plum-shaped tomato, but any vigorous sort with a large top may be used. The yellow fruit on my vines, growing in clusters, was very ornamental, and admired by all who saw them. Although not as valuable for general purposes as some of the larger red varieties, they make really fine pickles, and are very acceptable in the winter-time, with the thermometer at ten below zero, and snow to the top of the front fence.—Frank Finch, in Farm and Fireside.

TOMATO GROWN ON TRELLIS.

Hints to the Wise Ones.

A blue-eyed person never looks so blue-eyed as in a blue dress or white with a blue cravat, whereas the strong blue of the fabric might have been expected to dim the slight blue of the eye. A woman with remarkably red lips clad in dull heliotrope, with amethysts, has all the coral taken from her mouth, which wears instead a light heliotrope tint, and with this pink the pink of her cheek is also touched. An ordinary or even sallow cheek never looks so beautifully white as over a white dress which seemed to threaten to darken it. And beautiful as the "aesthetic" colors were in their day, they quenched and dimmed their wearers to their own tone. This is not to be easily explained by any known chromatic rules. Nor can one say why turquoise blue darkens dark eyes and adds to their brightness. Experiment and verification should be as much valued by the women as by the Comtist philosopher.

Recipe for French Nougat.

French nougat is one of the most delicious of confections, and this is the way to make it: Be sure the nuts are fresh, and prepare a generous supply. You must have Brazil nuts, peanuts, hickory nuts and almonds, and also some walnut meats. Chop them all, but not fine enough to make them oily. Stew them as thick as possible on a shallow tin pan that has been well greased with sweet butter; mix in with the meats some candied orange and lemon peel and half a dozen finely chopped stoned dates. Boil your sirup, made of two pounds of sugar and a cup of water, until a drop hardens in cold water. Add a tablespoonful of strained lemon juice and then pour over the nuts; mark into squares while soft and let it cool before taking from the pan.

Pie Crust Without Lard.

One pint flour; 1 heaping teaspoonful baking powder; butter size of an egg; cold water to mix. Sift flour and baking powder several times, rub in the butter, then add water enough to mix nicely. This quantity will make four pies.

BRIGHT VERSE.

First Love.
My love was young.
I loved her so,
That spite of all I vainly did
To keep it as a secret hid,
All nature seemed to know.
"He loves her so," the bluebirds sung,
"He loves her so," the breezes hum,
Whispering soft to the old oak trees,
"He loves her so, she is so young."

My love was young,
Her cheek grew red,
When, with my youthful heart grown bold,
My sweet confession all was told—
"I love you, too," she said,
The breeze had paused and about us hung,
It listened to her honeyed words
And gave them back to the trees and birds—
"She loves him, too; she is so young."

My love was young,
And so was I,
Love held a glass before our eyes
Through which the world seemed Paradise,
So swift the days went by,
Until our knell of love was rung—
"La! Gracious me!" our mothers said,
And we were spanked and put to bed—
Things end that way when we are young.
—Roy L. McCordell, in Truth.

In a Picture Gallery.
He died in Rome! the dull book said:
The canvas all aglow
Flung back the life that I had read
And calmly answered—no!
—James Riley, in N. Y. Independent.

A Mistake.
I've read it on the printed page,
In many a song I've heard it sung,
It's been declared by many a sage—
The endless length of woman's tongue.
They say that stars may cease to shine,
That comets from their tails may sever,
That solar systems may untwine,
But woman's tongue runs on forever.

But this is not the truth, I guess,
For when I asked, the other day,
A little girl to just say "yes,"
She didn't have a word to say.
—Tom Masson, in Detroit Free Press.

"There's Mischief in Her Eye."
There's a fascinating presence floating out upon the air,
Smiles lurk upon her features, and sunshine lights her hair.
There's grace and beauty blended, as she trips so gaily by,
There's a wealth of love in keeping, and there's mischief in her eye.

Beware, O youth, impressive! Admire, but beware,
There's a bit of native coquetry behind the face so fair.
The grace and beauty in her step, as she trips gaily by,
Are for the moment only—"There's mischief in her eye."
—John Wentworth, in Good Housekeeping.

The Bright Side.
Looking on the bright side—
That's the way to go,
Bet you it's the right side—
Summertime or snow!

Nuthin' much in grievance—
Keeps you in the groove;
It's a man's belief in
Makes the mountains move!

Clouds is got a light side—
All the bells'll chime;
Lookin' on the bright side
Gits there every time!
—Atlanta Constitution.

Her Reason.
"Tis strange that it always is easy
For a man when he's flirting, you know,
To swear to a woman he loves her,
By all that's above and below.
But when he is truly in earnest,
Tell me the reason, I pray,
'Tis awfully hard to utter
The words that he fain would say!"

She replied, as her dimples deepened:
"The reason is simple, forsooth:
'Tis because it is awfully hard, sir,
For a man to utter the truth."
—Dixie Wolcott, in Life.

God's Word.
Not only in the Book
Is found God's word,
But in the song of every brook
And every bird.

In sun and moon and star
His message shines;
The flowers that bloom the green fields are
His fragrant lines.

His whispers are the breeze,
And His voice
That bids the leaves upon the trees
Sing and rejoice.

Go forth, O soul! nor fear,
Nor doubt, for He
Shall make the ears of faith to hear,
The eyes to see.
—Frank D. Sherman, in S. S. Times.

Kept After School.
"I am sorry," said their teacher,
"To keep you, Tom and Joe;
I do not like to punish you,
Because it grieves me so."
But hopeful Tommy whispered
To naughty little Joe,
"If she is so very sorry,
Maybe she'll let us go!"
—Agnes L. Mitchell, in St. Nicholas.

My Athletic Girl.
Three times a week, with dumb-bells big,
She toils and knows no ease,
And, clad in some ungraceful rig,
She clings to the trapeze.

Upon the horizontal bar
Pendulum-like she swings,
And, like some lady circus star,
Spins round upon the rings.

Each day she puts the boxing gloves
Upon her dainty hands,
And, caring not for those she loves,
She counters and she lands.

Oh, would to Heaven she would try
A much more peaceful art,
And go back to the days gone by
When she took up Delsarte.

For now I have to use great care
And know what I'm about,
To kiss her I don't even dare,
The girl might kick me out.
—Tom Masson, in N. Y. Sun.

Agony!
The music ceased, the curtain rose,
I did not heed the play,
But gazed upon her lovely face:
She sat two seats away.
Her cheeks like tinted apple bloom,
Her teeth like gleaming pearls,
Her eyes as blue as summer skies,
A wealth of golden curls.

And as I gazed upon her face
There came a look of pain:
Like cloudy shadow o'er the land,
It passed, then came again.
I saw the tear drops in her eyes,
The rose tint fade away,
And that fair cheek grew deathly pale
In speechless agony.

She turned and touched her escort's arm,
They slowly went away;
My heart beat fast with sympathy,
I did not heed the play,
He soon returned and took his seat,
I gazed in great surprise:
He read the question I would ask
Flash from my eager eyes.

And as the music died away
His lips this answer bore:
"My sister's feet are number five,
Her shoes are number four."
—H. W. Stocker, in Boston Globe.

The Inevitable.
Mr. Otto Town—Yes, I always do my wife's shopping once a month. It's an awful job, and I shall be glad when I get home with these things!

City Friend (the following morning)—Heavens, Town! Haven't you been home with those things yet?
Mr. Otto Town (dejectedly)—Yes, I'm only bringing some of them back to be exchanged.—Puck.

The Critical Word.
"Does your daughter speak the foreign languages?"
"Not very much, but she has learned to say 'Yes' in six of them."—Life.

Whither Are We Drifting?
Wesley—Why, Harry—traveling alone?
Harry—No, indeed! Wife's in the smoking car. Sit down.—Truth.

The Real Difficulty.
He (nervously)—Do you think it right for us to be here alone without a chaperon?
She—Oh, yes. Mother says she would not be afraid to trust me anywhere with you.
He—But I don't know whether I dare trust myself with you.—Brooklyn Life.

Her Preference.
Husband—Where's my hat? Ah, there it is!
Wife—Sh—the pug is asleep in it. You'll have to take your derby.—Hullo.

Prepared For Emergencies.
Attendant—What's your old man got his hands tied up like that for, amny?
Uncle Rastus' Better Half—He was bound to see do poultry show, sah, an he had me do it for fear he might get ab-sent-minded, sah.—Puck.

A Dainty Workbag.
Cut out two circles of pasteboard the size of an ordinary tea saucer and cover each on both sides with figured silk or silkoline. Take a strip of the same, three-quarters of a yard long, and gather each end, sewing it around one-half of each of the circles prepared. Then gather each selvage edge of the silk with cord or stout sewing silk until the gathers reduce the length of the edges one-half and fasten cord or silk firmly to the circles. Two straps of ribbon to hang the whole up by, and a big bow of the same on the circle that will hang outermost, completes this charmingly convenient bag. It is especially useful, because it has no draw strings to wear it out, and because work can be put in or taken out as it hangs, without the trouble of taking it down.

How Much Rain Will Fall?
The Weekly Courier-Journal has struck a popular note in its weather guessing contests. A wonderful amount of interest was taken in the offer of $1,000 for the closest guesses to the coldest day and temperature during February, at Louisville, and much valuable information was gathered by subscribers on the subject. This contest has just been decided, there being 28 lucky guessers. The Weekly Courier-Journal now makes another offer on the same line. For the closest guesses to the amount of rain that will fall at Louisville during the month of May, the Weekly Courier-Journal will give $1,000. This money will be divided into 19 presents—one of $500, two of $100 each, two of $50 each, four of $25 each, and 10 of $10 each. Each guess must be accompanied by $1, to pay for one year's subscription to the Weekly Courier-Journal, the best democrat paper published. The rain-fall is scientifically measured, to the hundredth part of an inch. The heaviest rain-fall in May during the past 20 years was seven inches and forty-six hundredths of an inch. The lightest was four inches even. The measurements are made by the Government officials of the Weather Bureau at Louisville. Sample copies of the paper with full particulars of the contest, will be sent free to any address. Write at once, as under no circumstances will any guesses be received after April 30th. Address Weekly Courier-Journal, Louisville, Ky.

The equipment of the Queen & Crescent is known everywhere for its elegance and convenience, and the new schedules are intended to increase its value to the traveler. Particular attention has been paid to this class of travel, and every comfort and convenience of passengers looked after. There are good hotels at all these resorts which open about June 1st and afford very good accommodations at reasonable rates.

Those who never read the advertisements in their newspapers miss more than they presume. Jonathan Kenson, of Bolan, Worth county, Iowa, who had been troubled with rheumatism in his back, arms and shoulders, read an item in his paper about how a prominent German citizen of Ft. Madison had been cured. He procured the same medicine, and to use his own words: "It cured me right up." He also says: "A neighbor and his wife were both sick in bed with rheumatism. Their boy was over to my house and said they were so bad he had to do the cooking. I told him of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and how it had cured me. He got a bottle and it cured them up in a week. 50-cent bottles for sale by Dr. S. G. Hocker, Druggist, Stanford.

Our better halves say they could not keep house without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is used in more than half the homes in Leeds. Sias Bros, Leeds, Iowa. This shows the esteem in which that remedy is held where it has been sold for years and is well known. Mothers have learned that there is nothing so good for colds, croup and whooping cough, that it cures these ailments quickly and permanently and that it is pleasant and safe for children to take. 25 and 50-cent bottles for sale by Dr. S. G. Hocker, Druggist, Stanford.

It will be an agreeable surprise to persons subject to attacks of bilious colic to learn that prompt relief may be obtained by taking Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In many instances the attack may be prevented by taking this remedy as soon as the first symptoms of the disease appear. 25 and 50-cent bottles for sale by Dr. S. G. Hocker, Druggist, Stanford.

At $20 to Insure a Living Colt.
Money or cash note will be required when the fact is ascertained.

Eagle Bird is one of the grandest show horses in Kentucky. Monte Cristo, his uncle, is the only horse shown in the Blue Grass Circuit, that he did not defeat. He could be relied upon to make a gallant show wherever called upon and always finished as game as a race horse, although some of the "knowing ones" pronounced him no good.

As a breeder of fine, high styled, good colored colts, he is not surpassed by any horse in Kentucky.

Mares from a distance will be furnished grass after May 1st at $1.50 per month, and must be paid at the removal of mares. Care taken to prevent accidents and escapes, but not responsible should any occur.

Parading with or removal of mares forfeits the insurance.

YOUR FUTURE
Palmsy assumes to tell what the lines in your hand indicate. It will assume you, if nothing more. The above diagram explains itself. The length of the LINE OF LIFE indicates probable age to which you will live. Each BRACELET gives you thirty years. Well marked LINE OF HEAD denotes brain power; clear LINE OF FORTUNE, fame or riches. Both combined mean success in life; but you must keep up with modern ideas to win it. By subscribing to it for 1894 you will receive a gallery of exquisite works of art of great value, besides the superb premium picture, "The Mount of Hope," which is almost a real baby, and up to the original oil painting which cost $200, and you will have a magazine that cannot be equaled by any in the world for its beautiful illustrations and subject matter, that will keep you posted on all the topics of the day, and all the "tale, and different items of interest about the household, besides furnishing interesting reading matter, both grave and gay, for the whole family; and while Demorest's is not a fashion magazine, its fashion pages are perfect, and you get with it, free of cost, all the patterns you wish to use during the year, and in any size you choose. Send in subscription at once, only $2.00, and you will get over $25.00 in value. Address the publisher, Wm. Demorest & Co., 115 East 14th St., New York. If you are unacquainted with the publisher, send for a specimen copy. A large U.S.A. stamp, money, a letter from FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, long FIRST DIVISION OF THUMB, will; LONG SECOND DIVISION, reason; THE MOUNT OF HOPE, spirit of benevolence; that of SATURN, prudence; the SUN, splendor; MARS, courage; MOON, imagination; every respect before all orders before the 15th date will be gladly received by Mrs. Dudder.

Take our advice and above and you are sure to possess the last and most valuable gift.

The first of Manufacturer Hugh Seargent's Lincoln Twist tobacco was put on the market here yesterday and those who have used it, say it is A. No. 1.

The horse show at Hustonville has been postponed from to-morrow, Saturday, until Saturday week, the 14th. This will give owners a better chance to get their horses in trim.

We have just received another lot of sample shoes and slippers, button and lace, black, tan and colored, worth $3 and $4; will be sold at $1.98. Sizes 2 to 5. A. B. C. D. E. & E. E. lasts. B. F. Jones & Son.

While burning some trash in his grate yesterday, sparks flew from the chimney and set the roof of Mr. M. F. Elkin's residence afire in several places. He happened to be at home though, and with his sprinkling hose, soon extinguished the flames. The fire company was not called out.

The 8-months' old baby boy of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Phillips died Wednesday night and will be interred to-day in the David Myers family burying ground.

WANTED.—100,000 lbs. of wool. Top prices guaranteed. Call on me at McKinney or John Ellis at Hustonville, or J. M. Durham at Middleburg. F. M. Ware.

"KATIE DEAN, the Rag Picker," in the person of Miss Emma Morse, will be at the Opera House, Saturday night, 7th. Be sure and see her and the other excellent characters. Admission 15, 25 and 35c.

THEIRS made a hole in Mr. S. E. Owsley's brick meat house Monday night and stole 700 or 800 pounds of bacon. He has his suspicions as to who are the guilty parties and he was here Wednesday to swear out search warrants.

A large number of answers have been sent in to Mr. John Bright's conundrum "Why is Breckinridge like a family horse?" but none of them are exactly correct. The answer is, "Because he is so easily managed by the women."

The West Enders have filed their notice of contest of the prohibition election. See it in another column. One good prohibitionist told us that the old set will have to die out before they will let upon their fight against the liquor traffic. The contest will be heard on the 30th.

FRANK DRYE, the negro who was fined $10 and costs for gaming on Sunday, was put to work by Marshal Newland Wednesday, but he soon gave him the slip and has not since been heard of. If he will continue to make himself conspicuous for his absence, there will be no cause for complaint.

MR. JOE COFFEY has given up the hotel. His contract with Farris & Hardin, the owners, was to pay them $1,000 a year for it provided the saloon system was not abolished and if it was he could leave provided satisfactory terms could not be agreed upon. He and family will occupy the John McRoberts house, opposite the Methodist church.

ASSIGNMENT.—Mr. A. A. Warren, the grocer, has made an assignment to J. B. Paxton, Esq., for the benefit of his creditors. His liabilities are about $1,200 and his goods invoice nearly as much. Mrs. M. J. Miller and Hon. John Sam Owsley are the principal creditors for rent, &c. Hard times and difficulty in making collections are given as the reason for the assignment.

A CROWDED house ought to greet "Katie Dean, the Rag Picker," at Walton's Opera House, tomorrow night, 7th. The music of the little opera is very catchy and it is given with a vim by the participants. The accomplished music teacher of Christian College, Miss Margaret Bennett, directs the entertainment and plays the accompaniment, which is an earnest of its excellence.

FRANK HOGUE, of the Hustonville magisterial district, was tried before Judge Varnon yesterday for voting in the prohibition election here and held over till circuit court in the sum of $100, which he gave. Hogue claimed that he tried to vote at Hustonville in the democratic primary, but was denied the privilege on the ground that he did not live in that precinct. He moved a short distance since and supposed he was still in Stanford precinct.

FIRE.—The residence of Mr. W. M. Matheny caught fire from the cook stove Tuesday night about 11 o'clock and the roof was about to fall in when he and his wife were awakened. They got out with their baby in some difficulty and were unable to save anything of consequence. The house was known as the old Jackman place and was situated near Maywood. The loss is about $2,500 and as there was no insurance, it is pretty tough on the young couple.

MR. W. F. SHERIDAN, chief train dispatcher, started in with March determined that there should be no overtime on the Knoxville division. Such a thing had never been known before, and when Supt. W. P. Pike and Road Master F. M. Ansley each told him that a box of the finest cigars were his if he succeeded, they thought they had a sure thing of not having to pay. March came and went and not an hour's overtime was claimed, and it has now been nearly 45 days since any was allowed. Overtime, it might be well enough to explain, is the time paid train men for delays in making the schedule time. An engineer, for instance, does not get any overtime for two hours delay, but if he is delayed two hours and five minutes he gets pay for the two hours and all the rest of the time lost.

GENUINE John B. Stetson $5.00 hat at $2.48, only one to a customer. B. F. Jones & Son.

We are leaders in hats. Over 800 sample hats just received. We have all the latest style and shapes in both soft and stiff and will sell at less than manufacturer's prices. This is your chance for a bargain. B. F. Jones & Son.

The free lecture given by Mrs. M. W. Bender, of Chicago, at Walton's Opera House yesterday to ladies only was largely attended. She will deliver it at Hustonville, in the hall, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 and Mrs. E. P. Bender will go thither to-day to prepare for it. More than 100 ladies attended here and all were greatly pleased and benefited.

Read and see where to go to buy stuff. One lot of standard calicoes 2 1/2c; Lancaster Gingham 5c; Whittemore dress gingham 8c. The handsomest lot of wool dress goods ever offered at 20 and 25c. A genuine Clay worsted man's suit for $8.50; a nice line boys' two-piece suits for 75c. One lot of soft fur hats at $1, worth $1.50. The best man's shoe ever offered at $1.25. Money will tell. Come and try it. Hughes & Tate.

COURT OF LEVY.—Just a quorum of the 16 magistrates in the county met with the judge Tuesday to fix the county levy: T. S. Blankenship, J. T. Brown, L. B. Adams, Wm. Leach, George W. Young, W. L. Dawson, E. B. Caldwell, Jr., W. P. Grimes and W. A. Coffey. The levy was fixed at 18 1/2 cents, a reduction of 6 cents on the $100 and the poll tax at $1.25 which is 25 cents less than last year. Squires Caldwell and Brown were appointed a committee to let the bridge over the Cincinnati Southern at Kingsville, not to cost over $150. Two old women, Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Harris, were allowed $50 each for maintenance during their stay here after Dr. Price, of Philadelphia, operates on them for an abdominal trouble. On motion, John Sam Owsley, Jr., was allowed $125 a year in addition to his salary and fees for Commonwealth's attorney, provided the other counties of the district do likewise. The court then adjourned.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Stevens French Hoge, son of C. E. Hoge, cashier of the State National Bank at Frankfort, is shortly to marry Miss May Fulton Wright, of Little Rock, Ark.

—Miss Dollie Higbee, late society editor of the Courier-Journal and the authoress of "In God's Country," was married in Louisville yesterday to Wm. Gippert, a music dealer of Atlanta.

—Howard H. Gratz, editor of the Kentucky Gazette, and Miss Sallie Lewis Vaughan, daughter of Capt. James A. Vaughan, formerly of Lexington, will be married next Tuesday. Mr. Gratz is not as young as he used to be, but young enough to be a very spry widower. May he and his be very happy.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—The meeting at Walnut Flat has had about 60 confessions.

—Rev. R. R. Watkins will preach at Saulsby next Saturday night, Sunday at 11 and Sunday night.

—"Uncle Joe" Hopper is holding a meeting in Paris. His meeting at Elizaville had 20 additions.

—The Presbyterian church of Midway will send Rev. J. W. Moore, of Huntsville, N. C., as a missionary to Japan.

—Rev. W. J. Holtzclaw, reported Sunday on the occasion of his second anniversary as pastor of the Walnut Street Baptist church, Owensboro, that when he began there was 211 members. There was an increase of 60 the first year and 140 last, thus doubling the membership in the two years he has been there.—Inquirer.

—Elder W. E. Crabtree of the Chestnut Street Christian church, Lexington preached a sermon Sunday on the sin of hypocrisy, in order to give Breckinridge a dig. The number of hypocrites, he declared, is few compared to the number of good men in the church. Occasionally a Sunday-school superintendent like McKane is exposed to the contempt of those in and out of the church, and occasionally a Breckinridge, who will go to a female seminary, make an address to the graduating young ladies, holding up to them the purity of life as the trait most admired in womanhood, and in a few days afterward have a suit full of humiliating charges brought against him. "A citizen who will vote to return such a man to the councils of the nation will not only be condoning his acknowledged sin," said the preacher, "but will hold up to the young men of our country such a life, not only unproved, but as being honorable. God will judge."

—The records of the Masonic Widows and Orphans' Home, in Louisville, show that Horatio, John, and Rose N. Pollard, children of John D. Pollard, were admitted to the Home in 1877 upon recommendation of Crab Orchard Lodge, No. 432. These records establish the fact that Madeline Pollard's father was a Mason, or his children would never have been admitted to the Home.

—Mrs. Jane Belmont, of Mason county, celebrated her 103 birthday Friday. She has been grandmother to 57 children, 34 of whom are now living. She now has 17 great-grand children and nine great-great-grandchildren.

—Commander O. F. Heyerman has been found guilty of negligence and inefficiency, resulting in the wreck of the Kearsarge, and has been sentenced to two years' suspension.

The Illustrated Kentuckian for April has the usual quota of pretty girls. In addition there are two excellent engravings of the new Methodist Episcopal church, South, at Danville, with a history of its pioneer founders, and half tone cuts of Revs. E. H. Pearce and W. F. Taylor, its last two pastors. It is an unusually interesting number. On May 1, the paper will come out in a new spring dress, to celebrate its third anniversary. The size will be reduced and four more pages added to its contents. It will be beautifully illustrated, and will contain articles, both prose and poetry, by authors of State and National reputation.

Wrinkles, and hollow cheeks, and dull, sunken eyes, don't always mean that a woman's old. Half the time, they only show that she's overworked or suffering. To such women, to every woman who is tired or afflicted, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription safely and certainly brings back health and strength. It's a legitimate medicine that corrects and cures; a tonic that invigorates and builds up; a nerve that soothes and strengthens. For all the derangements, irregularities and weakness peculiar to women, it is the only guaranteed remedy. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

It won't do to experiment with Catarrh. There's the constant danger of driving it to the lungs. You can have a perfect and permanent cure with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.
